

Would you like to help uncover Invisible Histories in Seattle?

Fall or Fall/Spring Internship available with local, women owned & CHID alumna company.

Our work is at the intersection of history, the arts, environmental issues and social impact.

- Opportunities for historical research, writing, podcast production, audio tour creation, performing and more!
- Develop social media content creation, planning and promotion.
- Opportunities for additional creative projects, as they arise.
- We have four different events coming up in October -- several tours and two presentations. We are planning for a busy Spring/Summer 2026 as well.
- We have a planned podcast each month, upcoming topics include: Rebecca Demarest's research on Elise Olmstead and Northern State Hospital's cemetery.
- Opportunity to be featured/interviewed on a future episode of our podcast!
- Thematic areas of our research include: Uncovering the history of a "lost" cemetery in South Seattle, unpaving the history of SODO, Hooverville, Camp George Jordan, "invisible" histories of the waterfront and modern social impact connections to challenges/visibility for unhoused populations.
- We offer flexible hours to fit with your schedule.

Check out: www.invisible-histories.com for more information and then email Elke & Cari at invisiblehistoriespnw@gmail.com with a little bit about your background and interest in the position. Please respond by September 30th, 2025.
